

Department of State and Regional Development

A Guide to Developing Aboriginal Business

New South Wales Government

Table of contents

1	A quick guide	3
2	Setting up a business	7
	Business structure and governance	8
	Finding the money for your business	11
	Premises	13
	Practical issues	14
3	Running a business	17
	Marketing	18
	Customer service	20
	Employing and managing staff	20
	Taxation	22
	Record keeping	24
	Managing creditors and debtors	25
4	Profitability of the business	27
	Costing and pricing	28
	When will the business make a profit?	30
	Cash flow management	30
	Business performance	31
5	Where to get assistance and support	33
	NSW Government	34
	Federal Government	34
	Useful phone numbers and websites	35
APPENDICES		37
Appendix 1 – The business idea
	The business owner	38
	Will the business idea work?	39
	Market research and analysis	40
	The positives and negatives of A business idea (a SWOT analysis)	41
Appendix 2 – Business start-up checklist		42
Appendix 3 – The business plan		44
Appendix 4 – Cash flow projection		53

Introduction

A small business provides opportunities to create a better life, however starting a business requires a major commitment of time, effort and money. Preparation is vital for success.

This Guide to Developing Aboriginal Business is a font of knowledge, experience and free advice for people planning on starting a business.

There's a handy quick guide, advice on how to set up and run a business, information on profitability, and tips on where to get assistance and support.

All this plus up-to-date information about how and when to contact agencies such as the Office of Fair Trading, IP Australia, the Australian Securities Commission, the Registrar of Aboriginal Associations, the Office of Industrial Relations, the Australian Taxation Office and Workcover New South Wales.

Leave no stone unturned.

This is your Guide to Developing Aboriginal Business.